City Transportation donates two buses to Grant County Sheriff's Dept.

(Marion, IN) – City officials signed paperwork today donating two city buses to the Grant County Sheriff's Dept.

The Transportation Department had planned to rotate out extra buses in their fleet after purchasing four new buses last year.

Grant County Sheriff's Capt. Scott Haley said the buses will be very useful, being able to serve multiple purposes for evacuations, transporting inmates, trainings, and more.

The other two extra buses will stay with the City with one being donated to the Marion Police Department and one to the Marion Fire Department.

Transportation Director Jeff Edwards said it feels good to be able to help both the two City departments and the County in this way.

K-9 Jeb joins Grant County Sheriff's Dept.

In the recent sex trafficking case conducted last Friday by the Sheriff's Office, a new tool was utilized, K-9 Jeb the electronic detection dog. K9 DEPUTY JEB was donated by kNot Today, an Indiana-based not for profit organization that combats sex trafficking and exploitation of children by providing awareness, prevention strategies and restorative services to those involved in the abovementioned situations. <https://knottoday.org/>

Jeb and his handler, Captain Matt Sneed were utilized to search a vehicle and located tracking devices that had been placed (hidden) on the car for constant monitoring of the female victim's whereabouts.

Sheriff Garcia is proud of this K-9 team and would like to thank kNot Today for Jeb's gift and training. "We take all crimes seriously; however, crimes like this committed against humans leave a deep and lasting impact," Garcia said today.

The ability of a K-9 to locate tracking devices is due to a single chemical compound (triphenylphosphine) in electronic devices of all types. Jeb is an asset that any central Indiana Law Enforcement Agency can request for mutual aid.

If you or someone you know is the victim of Human or Sex Trafficking, you can call your local Law Enforcement or the National Human Trafficking Hotline @ 1-888-373-7888

Innovative partnerships boost criminal justice career training at GRCC

The Grant Regional Career Center proudly announces two transformative partnerships that will enhance its dual credit criminal justice career training program and provide students with unique opportunities for professional growth and hands-on experience.

GRCC has joined forces with the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy (ILEA) to offer the Jail Officer Course and Certification. This collaboration means that students who complete this program at GRCC will be eligible to enter the corrections workforce once they turn 18 years of age.

The Indiana Law Enforcement Training Board recently approved this program, a milestone for both institutions.

In addition, GRCC has established a collaborative partnership with the Grant County Sheriff's Department. Students in GRCC's criminal justice program will now have the unique opportunity to intern with CGSD, gaining invaluable hands-on experience in a real-world law enforcement setting.

These partnerships aim to bridge the gap between academic learning and professional application, equipping students with the knowledge, skills, and experience needed to thrive in the criminal justice field. They also underscore GRCC's commitment to providing students with practical insights and skills that go beyond the classroom, GRCC Director Nathan McNeely said.

"We're committed to giving students real-world skills and experiences that translate into successful careers," McNeely said. "These expanded partnerships provide an exceptional opportunity for students to become well-rounded professionals ready to serve their community."

Dr. Travis Hueston, GRCC criminal justice instructor, also expressed enthusiasm about these partnerships

"These collaborations with the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy and the Grant County Sheriff's Department represent a significant step forward in our commitment to offering students not just education but also real-world, practical experience," he said. "We are confident that these opportunities will empower our students to excel in their future careers in criminal justice."

Update on 314 S Washington St, Marion: A Shift in Direction

Marion, Ind. – The Indiana Motorcycle Preservation Society (IMPS) board convened on Monday, February 26th, for a crucial meeting to deliberate the acquisition of 314 S. Washington St, Marion. After extensive research and thoughtful discussion, the board has collectively decided not to pursue ownership of the building.

Carmen Mitchell, the owner of Pat Mitchell's estate, played a vital role in this evaluation process, actively engaging with IMPS to explore various options and possibilities, in collaboration with Indiana Landmarks and SOS Marion.

While the decision not to proceed with the building marks a shift in our initial plans, it aligns with our commitment to make thoughtful, informed choices that best serve our organization's mission and the broader community.

IMPS remains dedicated to its core objectives of preserving and celebrating Indiana's motorcycle heritage. We appreciate the ongoing support from our community and look forward to continuing our efforts to contribute positively to the legacy of Marion as Home of the Hog, and Indiana as a whole.

For media inquiries or further information, please contact: indianamps@outlook.com.

About Indiana Motorcycle Preservation Society: Indiana Motorcycle Preservation Society (IMPS) is committed to preserving and promoting the rich history of motorcycles in Indiana.

Through events, initiatives, and community engagement, IMPS aims to ensure that the legacy of Indiana's motorcycle heritage thrives for generations to come.

Introducing the Torchfire Film Festival: Illuminating independent filmmaking in Franklin, IN Franklin, Indiana - Torchfire Film Festival, an exciting celebration of independent cinema, is set to ignite the screens of the historic Artcraft Theatre in Franklin, Indiana in its inaugural year. Embracing the spirit of creativity and diversity in filmmaking, Torchfire Film Festival promises to be a beacon for both seasoned filmmakers and emerging talents alike.

Nestled in the heart of Franklin, Indiana, Torchfire Film Festival aims to showcase the vibrant world of independent filmmaking while highlighting narratives from our very own Hoosier State. The festival invites filmmakers from across the globe to submit their feature-length and short films for consideration, with a special emphasis on those hailing from Indiana.

"At Torchfire Film Festival, we're passionate about celebrating the art of independent filmmaking," said Dustin Brenton, Torchfire co-creator. "Our goal is to shine a light on both local and international talent. To provide a platform for filmmakers to share their stories and connect with audiences."

The festival features two distinct categories exclusively for Indiana Filmmakers, offering them a unique opportunity to showcase their work on the esteemed stage of the Artcraft Theatre on October 17, 2024. Winners in these categories will not only receive recognition through digital laurels, social media postings, certificates, and an award, but also have their films showcased at the historic venue.

"By focusing on independent filmmakers, we hope to create a supportive environment where creativity thrives right here in the Hoosier State," added J.D. Brenton, Torchfire co-creator.

Filmmakers interested in submitting their work to the Torchfire Film Festival can do so through the festival's official website, TorchfireFilmFestival.com, or via FilmFreeway, filmfreeway.com/TorchfireFilmFestival. Submissions are open now, and the festival encourages filmmakers of all backgrounds to participate.

For more information about Torchfire Film Festival, including submission guidelines and event updates, please visit TorchfireFilmFestival.com.
